“Ready? You’ve got ten lives for this game. The enemy has captured one of your team already, and you’ve got to release them, and capture the enemy’s black box.

In your positions?
Wait for my whistle...
You’ve got just 15 minutes to succeed, and may the best team win.”

Pulse Ranger

The real adrenaline buzz

This is Pulse Ranger

A safe, realistic, structured hi-tech combat team game for any number of players.

It's twice the excitement of paintball, and provides a physical and mental challenge to people of all ages—in safety, and without any environmental mess. Pulse Ranger guns fire harmless infrared beams, which are picked up by sophisticated detectors on both the helmets and guns.

Pulse Ranger is the ultimate challenge, not limited by an indoor arena or environmental considerations—the only limit to Pulse Ranger is your imagination.

Your place or ours?

The Pulse Ranger system is easily portable: the game site can be woodland, an urban site, waste ground or an arena. Pulse Ranger is designed to be played outside in all weather conditions, but is just as exciting indoors—a Pulse Ranger Challenge can include both indoor and outdoor play.

Whatever your requirements, wherever the venue, Pulse Ranger provides the challenge.

Who plays Pulse Ranger?

You will—again and again—and so will anyone who has a sense of adventure and enjoys a challenge. Man or woman, boy or girl, parent or grandparent, superfit or not—you can take the Pulse Ranger Challenge: play at the pace you enjoy.

The Pulse Ranger Challenge

Great for groups of all types: friends, social clubs and the general public, and ideal for corporate entertainment, team building and management training, or as a fun day for employees or customers.

Here are just some of the games ...

One-to-one. Warm up with this. Get to know your equipment—everyone's a target.

Find the Octagon. Defend yours, zap theirs.

Anyone here map-read? Follow clues to find the items. But the other team wants them too.

Zero minus 15—and counting. There's a bomb ticking in your camp. Find the clues, avoid the enemy, but stay clear of the octagon.

'What octagon?... Aargh'
